TAO MARAYAO (THE GOOD PERSON)

by Kinding Sindaw | Created and Directed by Potri Ranka Manis Queano Nur

This dance storytelling theater piece follows the path of Panglima, a tribal chief of the Samal Balangingi, a maritime Muslim tribe from Zamboanga, Mindanao, Southern Philippines. It is a saga that explores the themes of displacement, the continued plunder of indigenous land, and the strength found in solidarity with communities in diaspora that span and weave in the forgotten Philippine southern seas. Potri Ranka Manis Queano Nur founded Kinding Sindaw in 1992 as a way to assert, preserve, reclaim and promote the indigenous music and dances of her childhood, which now faces extinction. As a child in Lanao, she was trained in the traditional dance, music and martial art forms of her people and of other Philippine indigenous groups.

LONDON PARIS

Written and Performed by Edgar Oliver | Directed by Randy Sharp

World Premiere

When Edgar was eighteen, he and his sister Helen ran away to Paris. Edgar tells of their days in Paris and London - mishaps and adventures of youth. Edgar Oliver is a poet, playwright and performer who has lived and worked in New York for many years and is considered a legend of the downtown New York theatre scene. Oliver has written at least a dozen plays, which have often been presented at La MaMa, including The Poetry Killer, The Ghost of Brooklyn, When She Had Blood Lust, The Master of Monstrosity, I Am A Coffin, My Green Hades, Chop Off Your Ear, and The Drowning Pages.

KATE BORNSTEIN: ON MEN, WOMEN, AND THE REST OF US

Written and Performed by Kate Bornstein

Come spend a cosy evening with your very own Auntie Kate, who promises you'll laugh, you'll cry, and you'll gasp out loud as she speaks about the last thirty years of her life as a non-binary identified queer trans dyke. This is an evening of her most favorite heartwarming anecdotes, touching and sometimes-painful personal trials and tribulations, and inspiring tales of putting the world to rights. Her performance is at once deeply personal and universally acceptable, weaving together stand-up comedy, theatrical monologues, and heart-to-heart storytelling to convey the experience of her long, rich non-binary trans life. Celebrated transgender trailblazer Kate Bornstein has—with humor and spunk—ushered us into a world of limitless possibility through a daring re-envisionment of the gender system as we know it.

GRAND ROUNDS

Choreographed and Directed by Tamar Rogoff | World Premiere

In the 1950s world of Grand Rounds, a 10-year-old inspired by the adventures of Cherry Ames, nurse and amateur sleuth, turns her perceptive gaze on the rituals of family life. What goes on behind closed doors and on the radio is fodder for her scientific reckonings. Rogoff invites audiences to sit bedside to share the intimacy that propels her protagonist on a rescue mission of her own. The action takes place in and around six beds, in open spaces, on a hospital floor, in a graveyard, and in the imagination of this curious child. With an ensemble of differently-abled performers, Rogoff charts a journey through life's passages, widening our circle of connection and understanding. Tamar Rogoff Performance Projects produces dance/theater and documentary films. The latest, Enter The Faun, will air on PBS on America Reframed on March 28th. Rogoff also acts as a movement coach for film.

APRIL 27 – MAY 14, 2017 | FIRST FLOOR THEATRE

KIDNAP ROAD

Written by Catherine Filloux | Directed by Elena Araoz | World Premiere

While Ingrid Betancourt, a former senator and anti-corruption activist, was running for President of Colombia in 2002, she was kidnapped by the Marxist revolutionary terrorist organization the FARC. This story is a theatrical re-imagining of those events. The Woman narrates this story, through “intrusive memory,” a symptom of PTSD. She grapples with an ever-present series of moments in her life, as the play shifts in time and place via fragmentary scenes in a variety of locations. Catherine Filloux is a theater artist who has been writing about human rights and social justice for over twenty years. She was honored with the 2015 Planet Activist Award and 2017 Otto René Castillo Award for Political Theatre for her long career as an activist artist in the theater community.

THE EXPANDED UNICORN GRATITUDE MYSTERY

Written and Performed by Karen Finley

Finley's latest solo performance explores the recent heightened US political presidential landscape, taking on citizenship, gender disparity and abuse of power. The individual price of public relationships at the price of privacy becomes divisive with searing psychosexual dynamics of wit and seething revelation. The performance explores magical beings, aggressive thankfulness, and collective intimacy through Shakespearean sudden trauma. This is an experimental nonlinear poetic text that creates a jolt of intuition, analysis and unnatural disaster of the human kind. Finley plays a unicorn, and morphs into a Hillary like Trump like being while enveloping into the blueness of the blue dress of Monica Lewinsky.

MAY 18 - 21, 2017 | THE DOWNSTAIRS

THE BLUE

Written and Directed by Fiona Templeton | Presented by The Relationship

Music by Pamela Kurstin | World Premiere

A man and a woman speak in their own voices, as well as in the imagined thoughts of the other, even ventriloquising each other till the almost bare stage seems populated with voices. A tale without caution, caught in several acts. Gender and power shift and subvert. Language flows, cadences, crystallizes, shatters. Fiona Templeton is an award-winning poet and director. With her company The Relationship she specializes in staging poetic work that plays with the role of the audience, especially innovative work by women. The Blue is her own first new work since the epic The Medead.

1917-2017: TYCHYNA, ZHADAN AND THE DOGS

By Yara Arts Group | Directed by Virlana Tkacz | USA Premiere

What happens when society crumbles? A reminder to reflect of our past as we contemplate our ways forward. A show filled with music and poetry transformed into scenes, action and projections. Is there a ray of hope? Based on poetry by Pavlo Tychyna, by Serhiy Zhadan and songs from rock group Zhadan & the Dogs. Serhiy Zhadan is recognized as the best contemporary poet of Ukraine. He is the author of twelve books of poetry and three award winning novels. Zhadan's work speaks to the disillusionment, difficulties and ironies of life. His poetry and prose is translated into 20 languages, including English. Yara Arts Group formed in 1990 to explore and celebrate the cultures of the East. Yara Arts Group researches traditional cultures of the East and create new art performances, music and dance pieces that are filtered through our own unique cultural prisms.

MISS JULIA

By Vueltas Bravas Producciones | Directed by Lorenzo Montanini | USA Premiere

In rural Colombia on Midsummer Eve, Miss Julia and her servant Juan have a forbidden encounter. As Juan tries to rise from his servile life, Miss Julia tries to escape the bonds of her meaningless upper-class existence. The resulting power play of love, lust and class struggle becomes a dangerous battle that veers violently out of control. This bilingual production, performed in English and Spanish, is a clash of cultures, a dance of death combining combining powerful physicality, naturalistic text and live music., making Strindberg's text as relevant today as it was 100 years ago. Colombia's Vueltas Bravas Producciones is an international collaboration formed in 2013 by actor Jhon Alex Toro, featuring Tina Mitchell, Lorenzo Montanini and Gina Jaimes who have studied regularly with SITI Company and violinist Helen Yee. Toro works in theatre, television and film, most notably in the films Maria Full of Grace and Love in the Time of Cholera. The play is adapted by J.Ed Araiza, head of graduate acting at UCLA and a member of the SITI Company founded by Tadashi Suzuki and Anne Bogart.

AMY SURRATT'S FIRST AND LAST (SHOW)

Written & Performed by Amy R. Surratt

*Created in collaboration with Kristen Holfueer and Tosha Rachelle Taylor
World Premiere*

Amy Surratt's FIRST AND LAST (show) celebrates the struggle to return to something you never really had. This first and final biomythography is told by the fictionally famous "Amy Surratt," a former reality t.v. child star -- giving her debut theatrical swan song. Surratt's own genuine Appalachian roots emerge through the joining of poetic narrative, cultural pageantry, true stories, and good ol' down-home lying. Beauty pageants, burnouts, and unfinished business combine in this tragicomic exploration of fractured identities and origins. Don't worry, though, we got enough mason jars, bluegrass jams, rusted cars, and southern fried metatheatrics for everyone. Home is where your hell is. Y'all come back now!

MY HEART IS IN THE EAST

Written & performed by Jessica Litwak

My Heart is in the East is a duet (with puppets) that takes place in two time periods: Present day Iraq, Beirut, and New York City; and 11th century Cordoba, where Muslims and Jews lived in cultural coexistence inspired to peace by vibrant poetic exchange. Following each performance is a poetry contest. The play is a humorous, passionate and poetic exploration of history as a model for peace building. Audiences have said "The play ignites our curiosity and lets us dream of a possibility for peace." Jessica Litwak, PhD, RDT, is an award-winning playwright, actor, drama therapist and recognized leader in the field of socially engaged theatre. She is an innovative educator, director, and puppet builder who works all over the world.

SOME SMALL FEVER

Bryson Rand

Some Small Fever is an ongoing body of work centered around Bryson Rand's experiences as a gay man and his relationship to queer communities. Working in both private spaces and the spaces we have created for ourselves, the work reveals the intersections between past and present; pain and joy; desire and longing that bind us together. Without ignoring the struggles queer people continue to face today, the photographs focus on the strength, beauty, perseverance, and potential for growth that is at the core of our existence.

LOST MERCHANDISE OF THE DREAMLANDERS

Curated by Tyson Tabbert

Do you remember eating Divine breakfast cereal or sleeping on Pink Flamingos bed sheets when you were a kid? Neither do we, but you just might upon viewing this oddball array of rare collectibles. Lost Merchandise of the Dreamlanders is a showcase of kitschy and ironic retail items based on the early films of Baltimore director John Waters. Discover forgotten toys, home decor, and seasonal artifacts featuring familiar Dreamlander movie personalities. Presented in the spirit of a Sunday morning garage sale, the exhibit revels in the strange, nostalgic appeal of the 70s and 80s.

LA MAMA ARCHIVES

THE ELLEN STEWART PRIVATE COLLECTION

Ozzie Rodriguez | Archive Director

Established in the early 1970s, La MaMa Archives collects, preserves, and exhibits records of permanent historical value relating to La MaMa and the Off-Off Broadway movement. In doing so, it draws on a deep vein of in-house institutional memory, the passionate community of artists whose work has found a home on La MaMa stages, and a diversity of scholars, educators and international artists, with whom we regularly collaborate.

“It is impossible to exaggerate how crucial the [La MaMa] archive is to the stories of American theatre, New York City, and innumerable facets of creative culture and the wider social currents this work traced and fomented.”

– Alisa Solomon, Theatre Scholar and Author

La MaMa’s collections offer an intimate perspective on major social, aesthetic, and political movements of the 20th and 21st centuries that resonates with histories of peoples across the globe. Where else would you find original plays by Vietnam War veterans, alongside video of performances about the AIDS crisis; unpublished scripts by Japanese filmmaker Shuji Terayama, alongside photos and correspondence by Polish revolutionary director Tadeusz Kantor? A portion of these materials are available for viewing on our new Digital Collections website, www.catalog.lamama.org.

First Thursdays: This season, La MaMa Archives will be open to the public on the first Thursday of every month from 5:30pm - 7pm : 4/6 - 5/4 - 6/1

La MaMa Archives regularly conducts tours for student groups and is open to the public Monday through Friday from 1pm - 4pm by appointment. For more information please contact Archives Director, Ozzie Rodriguez at 212-260-2471 or email archives@lamama.org.

EDUCATIONAL PARTNERS

SARAH LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Every Friday, World Theatre Class students from Sarah Lawrence visit La MaMa to attend workshops with a La MaMa artist and to see a production in one of La MaMa’s performance venues.

TRINITY/LA MAMA

The Trinity/La MaMa Program utilizes the landscape and history of New York City as a catalyst for an intensive study in the arts. The semester is structured to provide full immersion in the New York City theatre, dance, and performance communities as well as other arts genres with the goal of fostering artistic, academic, and personal growth. Students participate in La MaMa artist workshops and internships.

EUGENE LANG COLLEGE, THE NEW SCHOOL UNIVERSITY FOR LIBERAL ARTS

Eugene Lang has had a close partnership with La MaMa for more than a decade. Theatre courses have utilized La MaMa’s Archives to enhance student curricula. Every year, Eugene Lang Alumni gather at La MaMa to showcase new work that has been inspired by La MaMa’s rich theatre history.

SEOUL INSTITUTE OF THE ARTS

Seoul Institute of the Arts is a leading arts institution in Korea, educating more than 2,400 students and creative professionals in 14 different artistic disciplines. Every season La MaMa and Seoul Institute of the Arts bring Korean students to La MaMa for a four-month internship. In 2009, La MaMa and SIA founded CultureHub together.

MEET UP

Meet a La MaMa program curator at our next Meet Up event. You will get an opportunity to speak with the La MaMa curator in charge of programming for your area of interest: Theatre & Dance; Puppetry; Playwriting, Poetry, and Visual Arts. Tell us why you want to present your work at La MaMa, and show us who you are! Please bring your portfolio and/or resume with supporting materials. For details go to lamama.org.
